

Kedington Appoints Sales Manager

Kedington, Ireland's leading provider of structured cabling and networking solutions, today announces the appointment of Rory MacMahon to the position of Sales manager. MacMahon will be responsible for the development of sales in the areas of structured cabling, LAN infrastructure and wireless business. He is based in the company's headquarters in Baldoyle.

Previously, MacMahon was a director of Cara Cabling, a specialist network cabling company. MacMahon has more than 17 years' experience in the IT/Communications sector in a range of engineering and sales positions.

MacMahon holds a degree from DIT and is a past pupil of Gonzaga

About Kedington

Kedington was founded in 1989 and was purchased by Denis O'Brien's Esat in 1999. In March 2003 an MBO, lead by Matt Porter and Colm Lyons was concluded taking the company back into private ownership. Matt and Colm managed to secure the entire Republic of Ireland operation, with offices in Dublin, Cork and Limerick, and kept the original management team together. Its customers have enjoyed a seamless change-over and continue to benefit from a huge wealth of expertise that still resides within the group.
